December 15, 2010, STRATFORD, ON – The Stratford Chefs School announced today that its 6th annual March Break Culinary Camp will be held March 14, 2011.

“This year, the Stratford Chefs School will be running its annual culinary camp from 12 noon to 4 pm., at Rundles Restaurant (9 Cobourg Street, Stratford and the Old Prune Restaurant (151 Albert Street, Stratford). Students participating in the camp will be introduced to the School's program which gives them a glimpse into the world of cooking in real kitchens with working chefs,” says Bob Friesen, Recruitment and Admissions Officer for the Stratford chefs School. Under the guidance of 6 chefs, students will be making recipes from the School's actual curriculum.

Each half-day session is dedicated to a different aspect of cookery – desserts, cheese making, charcuterie, larder, and special International menus. “The camp has grown from two days to a full week in two different restaurants over the last three years,” says Kimberley Payne, Executive Director. “We keep increasing the opportunity, but the demand exceeds the placements, so register early, it is always sold out.”

The cost for the camp is $75 per day which includes instructions, recipes, and a Stratford Chefs School souvenir. To register, please call 519-271-1414 and speak with Robert Friesen or e-mail him at bfriesen@stratfordchef.com.
